

Egypt

Land of the Pharaohs

Tutankhamun mask

Egypt was one of the world's first centres of civilisation and its history stretches back 6,000 years. Such a heritage has left the country with an unsurpassed collection of relics of antiquity. Whilst the Pyramids – amongst the world's largest constructions – are the most famous, Roman ruins, Byzantine churches and exquisitely decorated mosques testify to the various cultures that influenced the country over the millennia.

It is not just the Pharaonic monuments that have drawn travellers to this country, but also the legacy of the Greeks, Romans and early Christians and the profusion of art and architecture accumulated from centuries of successive Islamic dynasties. What makes Egypt unique is the diversity of the product it offers. Nowhere else can one combine business with historical tours, mountain treks, Nile cruises, desert safaris, Red Sea diving, Mediterranean beaches, spas and shopping.

When it comes to cultural and natural attractions, Egypt knows no bounds. From the Great Pyramids at Giza, Khan-El-Khalili Bazaar and the Egyptian Museum of Antiquities, Cairo offers a wide array of attractions. To the north, Alexandria offers a seat of classical learning, while the Qait Bey Citadel, catacombs, Roman amphitheatre and the Alexandria Museum are popular attractions of the city. Located south of Cairo and on the Nile, Luxor and Thebes have often been referred to as the world's largest open-air museum. These cities provide awe-inspiring trips around Luxor and Karnak Temples and the Valley of the Kings, home to the famous Tutankhamun tomb.

The great thing about Egypt's many historical attractions is that they offer visitors the chance to get up close and really experience them first-hand. The Nile River has played an important role in Egypt's daily life since time immemorial and continues to act as a life-giving artery flowing through the country. For the Pharaohs, the river was sacred in more ways than one. It was a crucial mode of transport between upper and lower Egypt but to the ancient Egyptians, it was more than this. It would be used for their final journey from this life to the afterlife. The Nile provides a unique way of experiencing the country's many attractions. The Nile cruise is a journey through time that allows visitors a chance to discover Egypt's momentous history.

The Red Sea coast is a great all-year-round destination for family holidays and sports enthusiasts. The mythical Sinai and the desert to the west of the Nile are perfect for trekking, not to mention the unforgettable cruises on the Nile. Egypt also has wonderful beaches on both the Mediterranean Sea and the Red Sea. The 21st century is very much in evidence – in comfortable hotels, busy casinos, lively nightclubs, comprehensive entertainment and the beach resort of Sharm El Sheikh on the Red Sea coast, famous for its diving and magnificent beaches.

Cairo

City of the Nile

Cairo, with the Nile at its heart, is the largest city on the African continent. An extraordinary mixture of old and new, it provides an endless variety of things to see and do – from exploring the labyrinthine Khan-El-Khalili Bazaar to investigating the fabulous displays in the Egyptian Museum, from dancing the night away in a fashionable club to watching the sunrise over the Sphinx.

With its chaotic streets and myriad cultural and historical influences, Cairo provides an enchanting destination for all. As one of the oldest habitats in the world that is home to the majority of Egypt's population, Cairo is a city that never sleeps.

Places of interest: The Pyramids; Sphinx and the treasures of the Egyptian Museum.

For the family: The Pharaonic Village, a replica of living in ancient times on an island on the Nile and Dreamland Leisure Park are great for younger visitors.

Best buys: Shopping bargains include Pharaonic souvenirs, papyrus paintings and antiques, perfumes and spices. For shopping in a traditional souk atmosphere, the Khan-El-Khalili Bazaar is unbeatable.

Out and about: Cairo comes alive at night with Nile dinner cruises; Arabic coffee shops; folklore and oriental dance shows; and the Sound and Light Show at the Pyramids.

Sporting attractions: Several golf courses around Cairo; horse and camel riding at the Pyramids; and ice skating and bowling at several new shopping centres.

The Classical Sights tour

Full-day chauffeur-driven private car excursion from Cairo

This excursion takes you to some of the most awe-inspiring monuments and attractions that provide a fascinating insight into the history of ancient Egyptian civilisation.

The tour begins with a visit to 'the major tourist site' in the country – The Pyramids of Giza, the only remaining Ancient Wonder of the World. It is believed to have been built as a tomb for the fourth dynasty Egyptian Pharaoh Khufu and constructed over a 20-year period.

Next, you visit the Sphinx, which stands as if to guard the Great Pyramids. Featuring the body of a lion and the head of a pharaoh, the Sphinx is skillfully carved from limestone. Facing the rising sun and revered greatly by the ancient Egyptians, this is the largest and most recognisable monumental sculpture.

After lunch, you visit the Egyptian Antiquities Museum. Established in 1835, the present building which was built in 1900 houses an extensive collection of artefacts. One of the highlights of the museum is the treasures from Tutankhamun's tomb which include chariots, statues, jewellery and the famous beautiful gold death mask and sarcophagus. There is also the royal mummy room which is second to the Tutankhamun gallery in popularity and houses popular Pharaonic dignitaries.

Sharm El Sheikh

Sinai's sun and sand paradise

Coloured Canyon

Whilst many people's initial idea of an Egyptian holiday involves pyramids, ancient temples and other archaeological treasures, there is much more to the country than just its distinguished past. The 21st century is very much in evidence in comfortable hotels, vivacious nightclubs and in the comprehensive range of entertainment. This is nowhere more true than on the lively, international beaches of Sharm El Sheikh on the Red Sea coast, famous for its diving and magnificent beaches.

This cosmopolitan resort, referred to as the "Red Sea Riviera" with its variety of hotels, restaurants, shops and bars lies at the southern tip of the Sinai Peninsula, where the desert merges with the crystal clear blue waters of the Red Sea. In recent years, Sharm El Sheikh has transformed itself from a few traditional fishing villages scattered along the coast to one of the finest beach resorts in the Middle East, uniting the simple pleasures of sun, sea, sand and shopping with abundant water sports and some of the world's best and most easily accessible reef diving.

Sharm El Sheikh is actually a collection of bays and coves – including Na'ama Bay, Sharks Bay, Tiger Bay and Garden Bay. Na'ama Bay is the main entertainment hub. In the evening the promenade comes alive as holidaymakers enjoy the bars, restaurants and nightclubs.

St Catherine's Monastery

Places of interest: Visit the 4th century St Catherine's Monastery; take a safari to the Coloured Canyon with its beautifully-coloured rock formations.

For the family: Most hotels offer a full programme of family activities and water sports.

Best buys: Sharm El Sheikh provides good shopping opportunities with tourist boutiques selling a wide range of Pharaonic souvenirs, leather goods, jewellery, pottery and beach and diving equipment.

Out and about: Discothèques, restaurants, cafés and nightclubs provide evening entertainment to suit all tastes.

Sporting attractions: Diving, snorkelling, deep sea fishing expeditions and a variety of water sports are available. There is an excellent golf course close by.
