

Singapore

A unique blend of rich cultures and the modern world

Jurong Bird Park

Singapore presents the whole of South-East Asia in a microcosm. Chinese, Malays, Indians, Europeans, as well as other Asian people have brought their cultures, religions, dress and cuisines, all of which has been happily assimilated into the Singaporean way of life.

Sightseeing

Try the amphibious Duck tour – combining city and harbour or the Hippo tour in an open-topped bus. Experience the trishaw rides, or take a bumboat cruise along the Singapore River. Explore the various ethnic districts of Chinatown and Little India; investigate Kampong Glam, the former Sultan's palace now converted into a heritage museum or see conservation at work at Katong/Joo Chiat, where historic buildings are being preserved.

Singapore Tourist Pass

The Singapore Tourism Board and the Land Transport Authority have launched the Singapore Tourist Pass (STP), offering tourist unlimited rides on Singapore's public transport system.

Family activities

With its friendly and welcoming people, state-of-the-art infrastructure and something new happening everyday, Singapore is ideal for family holidays.

It's a city that has rejuvenated world-renowned attractions, the latest being the new multi-billion dollar Integrated Resorts which includes South-East Asia's first-ever Universal Studios.

Other attractions in Singapore include the world's largest observation wheel – the Singapore Flyer, the Singapore Zoo, and the famous Night Safari, Jurong Bird Park, Singapore Botanic Gardens, Chinatown Heritage Centre, the Wild Wild Wet Water Theme Park or a visit to the luscious Sentosa Island.

Shopping

Shopping ranks as one of the city’s major attractions. Goods from all over the world are available – often at much less than in the country of origin. Major shopping areas include Orchard Road, where Ngee Ann City, CentrePoint and Tangs offer the latest fashions and Far East Plaza and the Heeren shops appeal to the young and trendy; visit Funan IT Mall, Far East Plaza and the Sony Centre at Wisma Atria for a huge variety of the latest electronic goods, VivoCity – Singapore’s largest and most diverse retail and lifestyle destination has outlets covering some 1.5 million square feet.

Entertainment

Whilst there is entertainment to be found throughout Singapore, Clarke Quay is a 24-hour party district with over 30 restaurants and bars ensuring something for everyone. St James Power Station offers nine different entertainment concepts under one roof. And for cutting edge entertainment, check out the world famous Zouk as well as Supper Club Singapore.

Sports and leisure

Sports are an integral part of the Singaporean lifestyle, especially on weekends. Whether it’s diving, cycling, dirt biking, water-skiing or rock climbing, you’ll see Singaporeans and expatriates working up a sweat at the beaches, parks and other activity centres. Try Singapore’s G-Max Reverse Bungy or head to the Singapore Turf Club for exciting horse racing.

Events

Chingay – Asia’s Grandest Street Parade (February); The World Gourmet Summit (April); the Great Singapore Sale (May – July); Singapore Food Festival (June – July); Singapore F1™ Grand Prix (September), Christmas in The Tropics (November – December); ZoukOut – an annual dance music Festival (December).
